

WILSON ARRIVES
IN WASHINGTON

President-elect Leaves Old Home with Tears in His Eyes as People Cheer Him

HAS THAT FAMOUS MOLE REMOVED

But Dr. Wilson Still Declines to Tell Who Are to Be in His Cabinet

THE OFFICIAL GUESS

WASHINGTON, March 3.—“Fair tonight and tomorrow morning; probably unsettled weather in the afternoon.” was the weather bureau’s inauguration forecast, issued today. Officials said there “probably” would not be rain or snow—but just “unsettled.”

Four years ago today the weather bureau forecasted good weather for the fourth. One of the worst blizzards in the history of the city put in its appearance—a “flare-back,” the weather officials said.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A tremendous burst of cheering from massed thousands waiting at the union station heralded the entrance into the national capital late this afternoon of Woodrow Wilson, president-elect.

PRINCETON, March 3.—Private Citizen Woodrow Wilson, ex-president of Princeton university, ex-governor, and tomorrow to be the first citizen of this republic, today bade a final farewell to his townspeople here today. In order to make the leave taking as imperative as possible all political opinions were forgotten and republican, democratic, prohibitionist and socialist fraternized.

The recollection of a tall, thin man, his pale face flushed under stress of unusual and repressed excitement, his overcoat open to the winds, his silk hat utilized to signal

Wilson’s Barometer
If there is any merit in President-elect Wilson’s razor shop weather barometer there will be no rain tomorrow. Enroute to Washington, Wilson who had used the strap today, said: “There is to be no rain around Princeton tomorrow. My razor strap was limp and smooth today, indicating clear weather. It is almost infallible as it gets lumpy and stiff when there is moisture in the air.”

a last farewell as he clung to the rail of a slowly moving Pullman while he joined in the stirring strains of “Old Nassau,” is Princeton’s memory this afternoon of the departure of its chief citizen.

There were honest tears of regret on the stern features of the next president of the United States as he listened to the cheering and songs.

The departure of the Wilson family from their home in Cleveland lane was exclusively an under-graduate affair. Carriages and automobiles

TRAIN KILLS GIRL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 3.—Mrs. Katherine Steinbeck, 20, was fatally injured today when, while walking along the right of way, she was struck by a Northwestern passenger train.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Light snow tonight or Tuesday; somewhat colder.
For Wisconsin: Local snow tonight or Tuesday; colder tonight and in south portion Tuesday.
For Minnesota: Local snows tonight or Tuesday; somewhat colder.
For Iowa: Local snow tonight or Tuesday; colder tonight north and west portion; colder Tuesday.
Weather Conditions
The pressure is high over the Atlantic and Gulf states and the weather generally clear and moderately cold, with frost in the south Atlantic and east Gulf states. Another high is central in Manitoba with temperature 20 degrees below zero. A moderate low extends from the lake region southwestward into Colorado.
The temperature is moderate in the central and northwestern states except in northern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota where it is slightly below zero.
Light snow has fallen in the lake region and rain or snow in the north Pacific states and west plateau region. It is snowing this morning in southeastern Montana and in the Lake Huron district and fair in all other sections.
The Manitoba high is likely to cause somewhat lower temperature in this section tonight and Tuesday with light snow.

MEXICANS ATTACK
AMERICAN OFFICERS

Twenty Soldiers Stand Off Sixty Mexicans and Kill Six of Them

FIRING IS ACROSS THE BORDER

“Greasers” Dashed Out of Agua Prieta and Made for Officers on American Side

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Confirmation of the reported engagement between American colored troops and Mexican rebels on the border near Douglas, Ariz., on Sunday, was received by the war department late this afternoon in a dispatch which stated one Mexican had been killed in the encounter and several wounded.

Rebels Join Huerta
The American ambassador Wilson at Mexico City reported to the state department this afternoon that Cheche Campos and Arguendo, rebel leaders, had sworn allegiance to the Huerta government, and had been sent to San Luis Potosi to assist in suppressing bandits.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 3.—A party of about 60 Mexican troops attacked four American officers near here yesterday, precipitating a fight in which six Mexicans were slain. General Ojeda, federal commander at Agua Prieta, denies that any of his men were involved in the affair, although it is known that one of the garrison is wounded.

Ojeda said frankly that he considered all Americans liars. The Ninth cavalry have sent an official report of the encounter to Washington.

Armed cowboys poured into Douglas today, anxious to take a hand, should any further trouble come as the result of yesterday’s clash between Mexicans and troopers of the Ninth cavalry.

Curious persons continued to beat the thickets where the Mexicans made their stand, looking for dead, but no bodies were found. The American soldiers reported that six Mexicans were killed and numerous others were wounded, but searchers were unable to find any bodies.

The four officers were walking along the American side of the border when the Mexicans, coming out from Agua Prieta, opened fire on them. The Americans declared that they did nothing at all to provoke the firing. Sixteen troopers joined the four officers and the Mexicans charged toward the border. Waiting until they were within easy range, the officer gave the word to fire and they said that six Mexicans fell.

Noise of the firing brought E and F troops of the Ninth to the scene, and as they wheeled into position the Mexicans broke and fled. Another volley was fired by the Americans, according to the stories of the officers, and several more Mexicans were wounded.

One version of the affair was that the Americans, in pursuing Mexicans, crossed the border twice, but the officers of the Ninth denied this.

Today regular army officers said they had instructions to follow the Mexicans across the border if they made any further attacks on Americans.

Feeling is very tense on both sides and the situation is grave.

COCAINE FIENDS
ARE COLLAPSING

MILWAUKEE, March 3.—Edward Spiegel and “Bob” Murray, serving sentences for using cocaine, were removed to the Emergency hospital today, seriously ill. Since their incarceration several days ago, neither has been given any of the drug, although they pleaded constantly for it. Half a score other victims of the habit are on the verge of collapse.

District Attorney Yockey today began drafting a bill to be presented to the legislature. The measure is very like that now in force in New York state and provides for a seven-year penalty for the illegal sale of cocaine.

BRIGGS HOUSE AT LODI IS BURNED

LODI, Wis., March 3.—The Briggs house, the oldest hotel in Lodi, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon. The fire started from a defective chimney, shortly after two o’clock and in spite of the efforts of the fire department, who worked all afternoon in zero temperature, the building could not be saved.

There were but few Sunday guests at the hotel and no one was injured during the fire. The loss is about $5,000.

THOMPSON FUNERAL SUNDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Orlana Thompson was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 at the Norwegian Lutheran church. The pall bearers were: E. R. Thompson, John Hegge, Erick Erickson, Carl Hanson, Mr. Waldo and John Anderson. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery.

Milwaukee Passenger Train Crashes Into Rear of a Freight but No Lives Are Lost

BOTH CABOOSSES ARE DEMOLISHED

Miracle Alone Prevents a Heavy Loss of Life; Conductor and Passengers Injured

STOUGHTON, Wis., March 3.—Hundreds of lives were endangered this morning when the Janesville & Prairie du Chien passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, traveling thirty miles an hour, crashed into the rear end of a freight train standing on the side track at Stoughton, demolishing the two cabooses attached to the freight and throwing the engine of the passenger train from the track.

While it was only a miracle that prevented a big loss of life, Engineer James Mills remained at his post and by throwing on the air and reversing the engine, made the impact of the collision less powerful, thus preventing the destruction of much property and no doubt saving many lives.

Conductor John Kayes of Madison, who was in the baggage car when the crash came, was thrown the length of the car and received a number of bruises.

All of the passengers were thrown from their seats and a number received minor bruises and cuts, none serious.

MRS. JOHN KOLLER
DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. Anna Koller, 54, a resident of this city for many years, died late Saturday night of heart disease. Her death was sudden and unexpected, although she had been complaining of not feeling well for several weeks. Mrs. Koller, who was the wife of John Joseph Koller, 915 Hood street, was born in Bavaria, April 23, 1858. She came to this country with her parents while a child, and settled in La Crosse, remaining here ever since. Mrs. Koller is survived by six daughters and two sons. She was a member of the Third Order and St. Anne’s societies, organizations of the Holy Trinity parish.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 from the residence, and at 9 o’clock from the Holy Trinity church. Burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

PUT LA FOLLETTE
BILL UP TO TAFT

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By passing today Senator La Follette’s bill limiting the power of the federal courts to suspend orders or state railroad commissions and pass upon the validity of state traffic statutes the house today sent the measure to President Taft.

The measure provides for hearing of applications for interlocutory injunctions in such cases before three federal judges after the state courts have passed on the statute attacked.

SUE THE “THREAD TRUST”

TRENTON, N. J., March 3.—Suit for dissolution of an alleged “Thread trust” was brought in the United States court here today by Attorney John Vreeland acting for the federal department of justice. The American Thread company and its allied concerns were named as the defendants. A perpetual injunction against the combine was asked restraining them from further alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

WHY CATCH COLD?

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Even the supreme court of the United States caught the Wilson fever and busted a precedent today.

The justices decided to wear skull caps at the inauguration. Always in the past—since George Washington took the oath of office—they have stood with bare heads during the swearing in ceremonies.

FRAUD CASE DELAYED

CHICAGO, March 3.—Trial of Albert C. Frost and his associates, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government out of Alaska coal lands valued at $19,000,000, was postponed to Thursday by Federal Judge K. M. Landis when the cases were called for trial today.

CANADA REJECTS ETOR

SEATTLE, Wash., March 3.—Joseph Etor, the leader of the Lawrence, Mass., Industrial Workers of the World strike, was deported from Canada as an “undesirable” person, when he reached White Rock, B. C., according to advices today.

SIGNS 8-HOUR LAW

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Taft today signed the bill limiting the hours of labor of men on government dredge and public service work to eight hours each working day.

LAST RITES FOR
MORRIS’ MOTHER

Friends and Neighbors Fill St. Mary’s Church at Funeral Services Today

DR. CONDON DELIVERS EULOGY

Pays Eloquent Tribute to Life and Virtues of Mother of Lieutenant Governor

Requiem high mass for Mrs. John Morris, mother of Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, was held this morning in St. Mary’s church, Seventh street and Cameron avenue. The services were in charge of Dr. Robert B. Condon, pastor of the church, who was with Mrs. Morris during her last illness.

The church was crowded with relatives and friends of the family. Many former neighbors of Mrs. Morris drove in from their farms near the Morris farm on the State road to attend the funeral.

The body was brought to La Crosse yesterday and remained at the home of the lieutenant governor, 1315 Main street, until the funeral this morning. Following the services burial took place in the Catholic cemetery.

Dr. Condon preached an eloquent funeral sermon, calling attention to the blameless and useful life lived by Mrs. Morris. Although he said the teachings of the church were against extravagant eulogies of the dead, he declared he did not overstep the bounds when he said she had been an upright and exemplary wife and mother, true to her duty and her faith. He said the whole fabric of society is based on the virtues and service of women like her. In closing, he used Mrs. Morris’ life to point a moral of the effectiveness and inner peace to be gained from right living.

The pallbearers were Professor F. A. Cotton of the normal school, Frank Winters, Michael Downey, Mr. Jensen, Ed Smith and George O’Keefe.

Among the out of town persons who attended the last rites for Mrs. Morris were Postmaster William Bradley of West Salem, Rev. S. L. McKee and Hon. Frank Coburn, also of West Salem. Sergeant-at-Arms J. A. Leicht of the state senate was also present at the funeral, having made a special trip from Madison to attend. He was accompanied by Charles H. Rawlinson, La Crosse, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

HOUSE FAVORS FAIR FUND

WASHINGTON, March 3.—By a vote of 119 to 89, the house today declared in favor of appropriating money for a government exhibit at the San Francisco exposition. The vote was to instruct the house conferees to agree to some appropriation, but the house did not fix the sum.

ASHLAND GETS FUND

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The house passed the general omnibus light-house bill today, carrying appropriations of $1,600,000 for new light-houses and to navigation including light station, $45,000 for Ashland harbor, Ohio; $17,500 for fog signals, Cleveland; $35,000 for Lorain harbor, Ohio, and $25,000 for Ashland, Wis.

BLAMES DOPE FOR
THEFT OF WATCH

John W. Havens, who also calls himself Henry Havens, offered the plea, unique in La Crosse, that he is a cocaine fiend, when arraigned in county court on the charge of stealing a watch and a revolver from Lorenz Fring, who roomed at the same house. Havens explained his theft, which he readily admitted, to the judge, by saying that he was under the influence of the drug at the time and was irresponsible. He was pale and nervous, a typical “sleigher.” Judge Brindley gave the man forty-five days in the county jail. Havens was caught in Winona Saturday.

GOES TO ST. PAUL
AFTER WANTED MAN

Deputy Sheriff George Ritter left this morning for St. Paul to bring back E. J. Sullivan, who is wanted here for the theft of $73 from Gerald H. Frost, a conductor on the River division of the Milwaukee road. Sullivan was arrested for the theft by the police of St. Paul yesterday, on a description furnished by Chief Webster of this city. The alleged theft was committed last Thursday. It is expected there will be trouble in bringing Sullivan to La Crosse, as he will probably fight extradition.

FILIBUSTERS STARTED

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The promised filibusters by Senators Lodge, Root and others to prevent the passage of the public buildings appropriation bill (pork bar) were started this afternoon as soon as Senator Sutherland had reported a disagreement in conference upon the measure.

POSTPONES VERDICT

Button Company Dispute with the City Over Riparian Rights to Be Settled Friday

After a personal inspection of the ground in dispute, Capt. W. A. Thompson, W. S. Woods and W. J. Ferris, members of the commission appointed to adjust the differences between the city and the Wisconsin Pearl Button company, today postponed the settlement of the problem until Friday morning at 10 o’clock when they will meet to consider further information presented by both sides in the controversy.

City Engineer George Bradish has been asked to submit further contour maps and drawings of the land in dispute. D. S. Law, for Gordon, Law and Gordon, the attorneys for the button company, presented the company’s side of the case at the hearing this morning. City Attorney A. H. Schubert represented the city.

The facts presented by Mr. Law were for the most part a location of the lines bounding the button company’s properties together with the argument that the damage anticipated by the city in the time of flood was not based on the real conditions. He declared that the filling in contemplated by the button company on the banks of the La Crosse river would work no possible damage to the city or other property owners.

Attorney Schubert argued that the backing up of the river in the time of flood and confined by a filled in bank would damage the bridge which spans the river at Third street. It is probable that the arbitration board will render its decision at the close of the hearing next Friday.

WOMEN ATTACK WOMEN

LONDON, March 3.—Scores of policemen this afternoon battled for more than an hour with a crowd of 800 or 1,000 men and anti-suffragette women who tried to break up a meeting of the militants in the pavilion theater.

Despite the efforts of the police, the mob broke up the pavilion meeting when Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst appeared.

WASHINGTON IN HANDS OF WOMEN

Suffragette Hosts March with Pomp Almost Equal to Inaugural Pageant

A GREAT PARADE FOR VOTES

They Ask for Military Escort to Protect Them from the Curious Crowds

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—Suffragettes who appeared in the symbolical tableaux on the treasury plaza braved pneumonia for the “cause.” Miss Mildred Anderson, who impersonated “Hope,” and Miss Florence Fleming Noyes, who represented “Liberty” both appeared in bare feet, and with only sandals to shelter them from the cold of the stone pavement. Also they wore some fairly gauzy-looking garments. However, the draperies were of woolen stuffs and the wearers insisted they were good and warm. Their feet were not warm, however.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Today was suffragette day in the national capital.

With weather to gladden the hearts of the most ardent “Votes for Women” enthusiasts, equal rights advocates of both sexes prepared to add to the inauguration gaudy by a separate pageant, the most gorgeous in history of the cause. Washington’s hundreds of inaugural visitors were early astir and by ten o’clock the grand stands had begun to fill with their burden of gaily-dressed folks prepared to cheer the triumphant women as they rode and walked down Pennsylvania avenue.

Suffrage banners peeped out gallantly from the mass of decorations and little knots of women, banners fluttering over their shoulders, and streamers pinned across their breasts scurried toward the peace monument where the parade was scheduled to start at 3 o’clock.

Golden chariots, gaily caparisoned horses and floats rumbled and clattered along every now and then, and the crowd making way, would cheer and shout in encouragement. Suffrage headquarters was a mass of struggling humanity. Mrs. Richard Cooke Burleson, grand marshal, was there, giving final instructions to her lieutenants as to the program.

All States Represented
Suffragists from every state in the union, in dainty costumes, marched up the streets at intervals.

The delegation from Illinois, in suits of white broadcloth, trimmed with gold, led by Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, created the greatest enthusiasm. Seventy-five strong they swung to headquarters to the strains of the “Equal March,” written by one of their number in honor of this day. The Illinois delegation arrived Sunday. They came in a train on which women servants had replaced the dining car and Pullman porters. In a big public hall behind locked doors, Mrs. Florence Fleming Noyes and Miss Mary Anderson, in bare feet and flowing robes, today held their last dress rehearsal of the classic tableaux they and their assistants are to present from the steps of the treasury building this afternoon.

Girl ‘Newsies’ Appear

Almost before the crowd was astir today 100 girl “newsies” with green, white and purple sashes across their shoulders were selling suffragette literature and reaping a rich harvest. At the same time delegates of the district federation of women’s clubs, wearing their own colors, began selling sandwiches, doughnuts and pies along the line of march of the parade. Immense loads of food, drawn in vans, were accompanied by younger members of the clubs, dressed as Puritans, who cried their wares.

Ask Military Guard

Before noon, Miss Alice Paul, head of the local suffrage headquarters announced that Mrs. John Rogers, Jr., sister-in-law of Secretary of War Stimson, had called on him to request an escort of cavalry for the suffrage marchers, as the throngs on the streets were becoming so congested they feared police protection would be insufficient.

Suffragettes literally captured the capital today. They all but overshadowed the inaugural ceremonies today. From all parts of the country and from distant lands, every conceivable class of women was represented—every type, every profession, every age—from Baby Harvey W. Wiley, Jr., son of the former chief chemist, and being early educated in equal suffrage by his parents, to Mrs. H. M. Young, the eighty-seven year old.

NEW MATERIAL IN SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Educational System Contemplates Intensive Development of Other Senses

THE CHILDREN ARE DELIGHTED

Much Interested in New Method; Miss Dean Tabulates the Results

Members of the visiting committee for the local school for the deaf are highly interested in the new Montessori material which the school has recently received.

The pupils are to be congratulated upon having this as the system is a comprehensive one and therefore expensive. The school for the deaf is the only one in the city so far which has this material, but should it prove greatly beneficial more may be provided later.

This new scheme of education which has recently been receiving so much attention among American educators was originated in Italy by Dr. Montessori.

She is the first woman to propose a new system of education and in her work with defective as well as normal children, she has attained such excellent results that her work is being heralded everywhere as a blessing to schools.

Her theme is that of intensive development of all the senses so that a child may adjust himself to his surroundings, making the best of them—using them for his own comfort and that of others.

The materials for this work include: Frames, which teach children to button and unbutton, tie and untie bows, lace and unlace, hook, clasp, etc.; cylinders, broad stairs, long stairs and towers for teaching attention and dimension; materials in wool, silk, velvet, linen and cotton to develop the tactile sense; colors in shades and tints to develop the chromatic sense; many kinds of wooden insets and metal insets which teach alertness, definiteness, dimension to lead up to writing and other occupations which need hand control; sand paper letters and numbers, and cardboard letters.

The materials in many cases have a quaintness as compared to American school materials.

It is well put up and will last many years.

The public is always welcome at the school and those particularly interested in this new work may see it under trial any day.

The children are delighted with it and the teacher, Miss Julie Dean, is weighing the results with care.

FAMOUS COMEDY REPEATS SUCCESS

"Isle of Spice" at Majestic

tie Bears Out Reputation as Ear-tickling Show

The famous musical comedy, the "Isle of Spice," the show that earned for its producers close on to $1,000,000, and which has delighted twice as many theatergoers throughout the United States, Canada and England, opened in La Crosse last night at the Majestic theater. As during the heyday of its career, the "Isle of Spice" still boasts the banner of B. C. Whitney. Days may come and days may go, empires may rise and empires may fall, but the Isle of Spice has lost none of its potency to tickle the risibilities or delight the ear with its tickling tune triumphs.

Produced at the LaSalle Opera house, Chicago, so many years ago that its inaugural is now remembered only by the oldest inhabitants, the "Isle of Spice" has been constantly before the public for year after year and is regarded by showmen as the greatest piece of theatrical property that the world has ever seen.

The show repeated its other hits last night. Micky O'Grady, Slusky Mackinaw, and their cheerful friend, King Bompoka, tickled the risibilities of the audience as they were portrayed by Robert DeVere, Jack Leslie and Stanley Feleth and the chorus was eminently satisfactory, both in the matter of good looks and singing ability.

The familiar songs of the "Isle of Spice" were generously encored. The "Goo Goo Man" song was the most popular, although "Peggy Brady" was also well received.

The show is well produced, the scenery being fresh and the costumes gorgeous. The principal roles are handled pleasingly by a competent cast, the fun makers being especially expert grouch assassins.

GIVES LAST TALK TO JERSEY SOLONS

President-elect Wilson's Successor Inaugurated as Governor of the State

TRENTON, N. J., March 3.—Woodrow Wilson quit the state house here for good at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, after watching the inauguration of his successor as governor, Senator James E. Fieider, and making a speech before the joint session of the legislature, in which the keynote was the need of courage in public men. He also declared that the country must be ruled by conscience and not by expediency.

A crowd of 5,000 to 10,000 people attended the ceremonies filling the streets and the capitol.

Of the ten pet reform measures that Gov. Wilson determined to push through the legislature before his retirement as chief executive of the state, three remained pending. Whether the present legislature will complete the program is problematical, but the president-elect will pursue an active interest in the measures from the White House in Washington. The three remaining Wilson bills call for the reform of the system of selecting juries; the second choice primary and the endorsement of the direct election of U. S. senators.

WHAT THE TURK MUST SURRENDER

Allies Will Practically Deprive the Sultan of Temporal Interests in Europe

LONDON, March 3.—The Turkish ambassador to Rome has officially notified the Italian foreign minister that the porte desired to place the matter of peace entirely in the hands of the powers, and the allies have made known to diplomats in Rome the stipulations they declare are necessary. The demands of allies include: The cession of Adrianople, Scutari and Janina; Turkey to be allowed to have in all ceded territory a special religious privilege, the sultan to have jurisdiction over all holy places, mosques, shrines, religious funds, etc.

Turkey to cede to the allies all of Turkey-in-Europe, west of a line west of Media on the Black sea to Rodosto, the peninsula of Gallipoli also to be given over; the exact line of the new frontier to be determined by a military commission of Turks and Bulgarians.

The cession of all the Aegean islands now held by Greece, to the allies; this would give control of the Dardanelles.

Turkey to pay a war indemnity of $300,000,000, deducting from it, however that portion of the Ottoman public debt charged against the European provinces to be ceded.

Hostilities to cease immediately on the signing of a peace pact; prisoners to be exchanged with all speed possible, and the re-establishment of all pacts and treaties existing between Turkey and the Balkan states before the war.

TAFT TOO BUSY TO PLAY GOLF TODAY

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A few good-byes, then work—and plenty of it—was President Taft's program on his final official day as chief executive of the nation.

The president remained at the White house during the entire day and was so engrossed with official business that he abandoned his customary daily golf trip to the Chevy Chase club.

SPOTLIGHTS

"THE ROSE MAID"

The author of one hundred comic operas and musical comedies—even this amount is underestimated—by actual count Harry B. Smith has written one hundred and thirty-three, and he is still at it.

This prolific writer is the author, or rather, the adapter of the entrancing book, "The Rose Maid," which plays an engagement of one night at the La Crosse theater Friday, March 7.

If you have been at all observing, you have noted on at least every other musical comedy or comic opera program, the name of "Harry B. Smith," for such is the wonderful versatility of this writer, that his average is every other modern book as either author, translator or adapter.

There is no doubt about it that Harry B. Smith is the most prolific playwright in the world today, and from the viewpoint of royalties, the most successful. This season he will have sixteen plays on the road at one time—each paying him his weekly share of the box office receipts.

Although he is only forty-five years old his annual income is $150,000 to $160,000. To put it epigrammatically, Harry Smith's tastes are literary, his activities illiterary. He is a student and his library in his New York home is one of the finest in the city. He is writing a serious book on Dickens, and he declares he will attempt to write a serious drama as soon as he gets the time.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

"The best high school debate I have ever heard" was the verdict of one of the judges of the debate between Dubuque and Prairie du Chien high school held here Friday evening. The question was, "Resolved, that the initiative and referendum should be more generally used by the states," the affirmative being presented by George Jones, Elmer Herold and Colonel Thompson of Prairie du Chien. The verdict was given to Dubuque by a decision of two for and one against. The judges were Prof. Sanford of the LaCrosse normal school; Prof. Stothower, superintendent and principal of Platteville high school, and O. S. Rice, of the state education department of Madison. The Dubuque team debated the same question with the Freeport, Ill., high school a few weeks ago, winning then by a unanimous decision.

A meeting of the business men's association will be held at the council chamber Tuesday evening to consider the question of building a factory for the Iroquois Button company, which will have to vacate its present quarters in the old Music Hall block, May 1st.

The company employs from ninety to one hundred men and a movement is on foot to provide suitable quarters for the factory near the C. B. & Q. tracks in the Third ward.

A special meeting of the city council was held Saturday evening to receive bids for the contract for the sewer system to be put in here during the coming summer.

Elmer Herold has a position as auxiliary clerk in the post office.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Clever Major Waits on His Kind Mistress

They Understand One Another.

THE clock had sounded the last stroke of the bedtime hour as Jack and Evelyn came scampering up to daddy's chair.

"You ought to let me off for one evening anyway," he grumbled as he laid his paper aside.

"Ah, you know we can't," the children replied. "Besides, you promised us the stories."

"Well," said daddy, "I happen to know another good story about my friend, the big brown spaniel Major, the faithful companion of a lady who lives in a nice little country town."

"They are alone so much that she has got into the habit of talking to Major just as if he were a human being. When she talks to him Major sits up and looks at her out of his bright golden brown eyes as much as to say: 'Yes, indeed, dear mistress: I understand quite well what you are saying. What a pity that human folks can't learn to speak the doggie way. There are so many interesting things I should like to tell you.'

"Just the same, they do understand one another pretty well. His mistress has trained Major to fetch and carry for her, and, as he is a big strong dog, he can often save her many steps.

"One thing that he is fond of doing is to fetch her slippers from upstairs when she comes home after having been out for awhile. Major knows when she puts her slippers on she is going to stay at home with him.

"When he is told to go upstairs and bring down her street shoes he goes very slowly and, bringing them down, gives them up very unwillingly. He is too good a doggie not to do as he is told, but sometimes, no doubt, he does wish that he could hide those old street shoes away where his mistress could not find them and go off, as she sometimes does, for a whole day at a time.

"When he is left alone Major sometimes gets reckless. He has his own cushion in the kitchen, and when his mistress is there he never tries to climb up on the parlor chairs, though they are so roomy and softly cushioned that they must often look very tempting to a tired dog.

"There is one chair in particular that stands just by a window. When Major sits in that he can see who passes along the street or opens the gate.

"Sometimes Major will stand and look longingly at the chair, but unless he is very naughty he does not venture to jump up.

"However, when his mistress goes away Major doesn't care at all whether he is a good dog or not, and then he climbs right up on the chair to look out.

"Just as soon as the dog hears his mistress coming into the gate, however, he jumps heavily to the floor, and by the time she gets the door unlocked he is waiting inside ready to give her a warm welcome."

OUR ENGINEER

MEASURES BIG

The following paragraph is a portion of an editorial that appeared in a recent issue of the Milwaukee Sentinel:

"Engineer Alvord of Chicago, who knows what he is talking about and is perfectly disinterested as to minor issues between our sewage disposal squabblers, warms Milwaukee that 'no city in the country stands in such imminent danger as ours does of an epidemic from its open sewerage.'"

We are not concerned with Milwaukee's system of sewerage. The above is quoted to indicate that Engineer Alvord, upon whose judgment La Crosse has so profitably relied in relation to its now building water plant, is a person whose dictum carries weight in metropolitan cities.

MAY HELP TO REDUCE

HIGH COST OF LIVING

"The Housewives' League Magazine" is the name of the new publication which is being issued under the supervision of this live organization of women formed for the protection of consumers. The league already has been of invaluable service in arousing the women of the country to a realization of their own interests, and doubtless the possession of a journal through which they can give the facts as to foods, drugs, fabrics, etc., will extend their sphere of influence.

The publication was started in January and now has issued its second number. It is published in New York under the supervising editorship of Mrs. Julian Heath. The contents of the February number include such up-to-date topics as "Pure Fabrics as Well as Pure Foods,"
"Parcel Post and the Producer,"
"The Fabric Adulteration Evil," "The Lesson of the Egg Campaign," and many other subjects of current interest.

Backed as is this publication by women who have done actual service by organizing consumers in combating high prices, it should prove a big factor in the further education of the housewives of the country. About all that is necessary to bring about co-operative effort against the injustices which have been perpetrated on the American public is a general realization of the plain facts. Wrongs have been tolerated because the full extent of the wrongs have not been understood. The women have it in their power to remedy many of the conditions prevailing. They are in touch with the dealers and with the type of goods they sell. They know prices, qualities and the other needful details of marketing. For any movement which hopes to bring about a higher standard we must look principally to the women.

THE CITY OF

POLITE ROBBERY

Reform seems to be rampant in the city of Washington. First the lid was clamped on the turkey-trot, then the inaugural ball was tabooed and now the authorities have started a crusade to curb the grabbing proclivities of hotel proprietors and employees during the inauguration period. Excessive rates and special charges will be reduced or the authorities will know the reason why.

The open and outstretched palm has long been the most noticeable institution in the national capital. Besides it the Washington monument and the congressional library sink into insignificance. When the stranger arrives in the national capitol and steps off his train he is met by a chocolate soldier who seizes his grip and carries it to the taxicab. The taxicab driver gets a dollar, the doorman who opens the door of the taxicab when it reaches the hotel gets anywhere from ten cents to a quarter, the boy who carries the grip into the hotel and up to the room gets a quarter and the regular rate for ice water is the same. If the person is economical he can keep his tips down so that they will not be much more than his hotel bill but the Washinton visitor expects to be fleeced right and left and it would be against all ethics of the hotel business to disappoint him. It will not seem like the same old town with the excessive charges cut out, but the inauguration visitor will doubtless make the best of the situation and perhaps some of them will have enough money left to buy a box of figs on the train on the way home.

"FRATS" ARE NOT

DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS

We believe a majority of Wisconsin people do not sympathize with President Van Hise in his contention that the uprooting of Greek Letter societies in the state university would not be beneficial. That people generally—which includes taxpayers and voters—do not think well of these organizations seems to be conceded by Mr. Van Hise when he says that Woodrow Wilson's opposition to them wielded a potent influence in the latter's election to the presidency. That student disagreement with Mr. Wilson upon the subject led to his retirement from the presidency of Princeton university is an assertion of President Van Hise which carries no more important significance than the disclosure that there are special interests even in our schools. Of course, the wealthier—and by no more substantial tokens, aristocratic—element in the university could find a means of getting together and associating, and of being exclusive with that exclusion whose coat of arms is the dollar sign,
but in a democratic institution refusal to give sanction to class or caste by recognition of the outward evidences is important. If, as President Van Hise says, there is need of dormitories for which the fraternity houses form a cold and inhospitable substitute, the great state of Wisconsin can afford to build enough of them so that a property qualification need not be essential to eligibility.

Senator Cummins says the country will never go far wrong. It isn't often that a disappointed candidate for the presidency can bring himself to this optimistic viewpoint.

His Exclusive Costume

The outfitter came forward to attend to the nervous old bean, who was mopping his bald and shining poll with a large and gaudy silk handkerchief.

"And what can I do for you?" he asked.

"I want a little help in the way of a suggestion," said the old gentleman. "The truth is—er—I am going to a—er—fancy dress ball this evening, and I want a distinctly original costume—something quite out of the common that nobody else would think of. What do you suggest?"

The shopman looked thoughtful for a while, studying his client closely. Then he said:

"Well, why not sugar your head and go as a pill?"

Out of the Fold

Mary's father being a member of congress, the child naturally inhaled politics with the air she breathed, and grew firm in the faith that nothing good could be found outside the democratic fold. Miss Smith, a friend of little Mary's sister, and a political heretic in her eyes, was visiting in the family. Late one evening, the child, searching for her sister, wandered into the guests' room, where she found Miss Smith in the midst of her devotions.

Mary stared at her in open eyed astonishment, and as the young lady arose from her knees, exclaimed,
"Why, Miss Smith! Do you say your prayers? I thought you were a republican."—National Monthly.

Remarkable

Catarrh Cure

Gets Right into the Affected Parts
and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is determined that catarrh can be cured
by the simple process of inoculating
the blood with antitoxin remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, an-nihilates all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour.
You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle.
It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to
The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg.,

of S. S. S. at your druggists.

Beef Roll

A New Way of Using Left Overs
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Every housewife finds the disposition of left overs a most perplexing problem. K C Beef Roll will go a long way toward helping you out when the family get tired of hash and stews. You really ought to try it for supper tonight or tomorrow night at the latest.

Beef Roll, K C Style

Three cups flour; 1 teaspoonful salt; 3 level tea-spoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 3 cups shortening; sweet milk; 1 cup each, chopped cooked beef and ham; 1 teaspoonful mixed mustard; 2 beaten eggs; grating of onion; 1/4 teaspoonful each, salt and pepper, both or each.

Make a biscuit dough of the flour, salt, K C Baking powder, shortening and milk, and roll into a sheet half an inch thick, having the ends even. Mix the other ingredients by themselves, using liquid as needed, to make a paste.
Spread the paste over the dough and roll like a jelly roll. Bake in a buttered pan about forty minutes. Brush over the outside with a little beaten egg left for the purpose and return to the oven so brown. Serve hot with a rich brown sauce. Other meats, such as chicken or veal, alone, or in combination, may be used. The onion and mustard may be omitted.

Ninety recipes—just think of it—by the famous cooking authority, Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, sent free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder. Send for the handsome Cook's Book today to the JAGURS MFG. CO., Chicago.

The Fly Mystery

"Look here," stormed the patron, pointing to the tureen, "what is the meaning of that dead fly in the soup?"

"I regret, sir," said the waiter, politely, "I cannot supply you with the desired information, I am only supposed to serve the soup, not to explain its ingredients."

"But a dead fly, man," persisted the customer, "a dead fly. How did it happen?"

"I am sorry to say, sir," replied the waiter, "I have no idea how the poor creature met its fate. Possibly it had not taken any food for a long time, and, fluttering near the soup, found the flavor particularly pleasing, and, eating too heartily, contracted appendicitis or some kindred ailment, which, in the absence of an opportunity for the application of the X-ray and the resultant operation, caused its untimely end."—P. I. P.

Legal Business Defined

office boy told the caller that the boss was out on important legal business, and the caller went away. But the next morning (we tell what we have heard) the caller called again.

"Where's the boss?" he asked.

"Out on important business," answered the office boy.

"Look here, boy! I was here yesterday and you said the boss was out on some legal business."

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I went and found him up against the bar in the nearest saloon. Is that what you call legal business?"

a drink?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Just and
The Unjust

By Vaughan Kester

The Prodigal Judge

Copyright, 1912, The Robt. Merrill Company.

Gilmore pondered this problem for the better part of an hour, considering it from every conceivable angle; then suddenly the expression of his face changed, he forgot for the moment his ambitions and his desires, his hatred and his love; he thought he heard the click of the old-fashioned latch on the front gate. He remembered that it could be raised only with difficulty. Next he heard the sound of footsteps approaching the house. They seemed to come haltingly down the narrow brick path which the wind had swept clear of snow.

Mr. Gilmore was blessed with a steadiness of nerve known to but few men, yet the hour and the occasion had their influence with him.
He stood erect; now the steps which had paused for a moment seemed to recede; it was as if the intruder, whoever he might be, had come almost to the front door and had then, for some inexplicable reason, even back to the street. Gilmore even imagined him as standing there with his hand on the latch of the gate. He was tempted to rouse his two companions, but he did not,
and then, as he still stood with his senses tense, he heard the steps again approach the front door. With a glance in the direction of the colonel and his nephew to assure himself that they still slept, Gilmore rather shamefacedly slipped his right hand under the tails of his coat, tiptoed into the hall and paused there close by the parlor door. The steps outside continued, he heard the porch floor give under a weight, and then some one rapped softly on the door.

Gilmore waited an instant; the rap was repeated; he stepped to the door, shot the bolt and opened it.
The storm had passed; it was now
cold and clear, a brilliant, starlit, winter's night. He saw the man on the porch clearly as he stood there with the world in white at his back.
Gilmore instantly recognized him,
and his hand came from under the tails of his coat; he closed the door softly.

"What sort of a joke is this,
Marsh?" he demanded in a whisper.
"Joke?" repeated the lawyer in a thick husky voice, as he took an uncertain step toward the gambler.

"Your coming here at this hour,
if it isn't a joke, what is it?"

Gilmore saw that his face was flushed with drink while his eyes shone with a light he had never seen in them before. He must have been abroad in the storm for some time, for the snow had lodged in the rim of his hat and his shoulders were still white with it; and then again a paroxysm of shivering seized him.

"Whisky chill," thought the gambler. "Come in, Marsh," he said, but Langham seemed to draw back instinctively.

"No, I guess not, Andy," and a sickly pallor overspread his face.

"What's the matter with you?"
demanded Gilmore.

"I want to see you," said the other. "I can't go home yet." He swayed heavily. "I need to talk to you on a matter of business. Come on out—come on off of here; and he led the way down the porch steps. "Whom have you in there with you?" he questioned when he had drawn Gilmore a little way along the path.

"The colonel and Watt Harbison."

"No one else?"

"No."

"Do they know I'm here?"

"I guess not, they were asleep
two minutes ago."

"That's good. I don't want to see them. I want to see you."

"Wouldn't it keep, Marsh?" asked Gilmore.

"No, sir, it wouldn't keep; I want to tell you just what I think of you,
you damn—"

"Oh, that will keep, Marsh, any time will do for that; anyway, you have told me something like that already! When you sober up—"

"Do you think I'm drunk?"

"I don't think anything about it."

"Well, maybe I am. I have been under a strain. But I'm not too drunk to attend to business; I am never too drunk for that. I wish to say I have the money—"

His lips twitched, and Gilmore, watching him furtively, saw that he

PLAYS PART OF MULE ON WAGER

North Siders Amused by Unique Payment of Bet on Trip to Texas

What at first looked like a pre-inaugural parade coming down George street one day last week turned out to be Peter Lee, the Onalaska saloonkeeper, hitched to a bobbed which was highly decorated with the national colors, and with gay bunting and trimmings suggestive of the sunny south floating in the breeze of a two below "norwester."

The event was the result of a bet between John A. Skogan of Onalaska and Peter Lee in regard to a trip to Texas that Mr. Skogan was to take. In going Mr. Lee lost the bet. It was broadly hinted that Mr. Skogan reached Texas one day and departed for home on the next.

Mr. Lee carried a sign on his back, with the words: "This is the kind of mule we use in Texas." His person was adorned with a red coat and straw hat, presumably to protect him from the intense heat that is found in that southern climate.

Mr. Lee did not lack company on his journey as a large band of enthusiastic rooters lent assistance, giving advice as to the proper way to drive a Texas mule, and to catch the fractious animal in case he attempted to run away.

At each stopping place the supposed mule was tied to a post while the driver and escort went indoors for refreshments, and to sell seed brought from the south. The seed comprised a cigar box full of potatoes (large as marbles), carrots (almost dry), presumably shriveled from the intense heat of the southern climate, also a cabbage as large as an apple.

When the mule was returned to its stable, fed and watered, its loud "bra-a-a" proclaimed its willingness at any time to return to the land where the roses grow all the year round, and where the life of a mule is pleasant to live.

PRESIDENT AGAINST ISLAND FREEDOM

NEW YORK, March 1.—On the eve of his retirement from office, President Taft in a signed article in the New York Tribune today reiterated his arguments against Philippine independence, and declared that the suggestion was "dangerous, unwise, ill-considered and inadvisable."

"I am glad to make one more appeal for the little brown brother of the Philippines," wrote the president. "It is no more possible to contemplate the proposition to grant independence to the Philippines now or at any specific time without suspicion that a self desire to escape responsibility constitutes a large part of the impelling motive, than it is to contemplate the conduct of a father who imposes like responsibility on an immature son without equal distrust."

The president then reviewed at length his experiences in the islands, which, he said, makes his judgment worth having.

SUPERIOR DEFEATS LA CROSSE NORMAL

La Crosse normals slipped down a notch in the race for the state championship when it was defeated Saturday night at Superior by the close score of 24 to 21. It was a nip and tuck battle all the way with the locals having the best of it a great deal of the time. However, the strenuous game of the night before with River Falls and the trip to Superior told on Coach Carter's boys but it was only after a hard struggle that they lost as the three point lead indicates.

RUSHFORD MINN

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Henze, residing northeast of this city, was last Tuesday evening the scene of a merry gathering, when four sleighloads of Royal Neighbors drove up to spend the evening. After spending several hours in playing games and in music a midnight luncheon was served and in the wee small hours the guests departed for home. Among those who went, were the following Woodmen: Messrs. Ed. Gouty, Carl Smay, Chas. Wilmart, Will Krookow, O. K. Quarve, C. L. Foss, Albert Holle and Maynard Blanchfield.

The teacher and pupils of the Halvorson district Nos. 102 and 157 Millmore and Houston counties will hold a basket social at the school house next Friday evening, March 7. Miss Hazel Whitehouse is instructor in this district.

Mr. H. J. Martin, who resides a few miles north of this city, surely takes the prize for wood hauling. Last Friday Mr. Martin took advantage of the good sleighing and brought to this city a load of wood which weighed 6,000 pounds.

The Bratsberg Viking band, not content with the name and fame which is already theirs, still are intent upon acquiring more laurels and last Thursday departed for the cities of Lee and Shabana, Ill., to give concerts.

The Misses Bertine Brendon and Caroline Gilderhaus of Peterson were Rushford visitors last week.

There occurred at Olney Springs, Colo., Feb. 19th the death of a former Peterson young lady, Mrs. E. N. Freeman, nee Alta Larson. Mrs. Freeman had been ill but three days and her death came as a great shock to her wide circle of friends, many of whom had not known of her illness. About seven years ago she went with her family to Olney Springs, at which place she leaves a husband and two children. Mr. Freeman is superintendent of schools in Olney county. Mrs. Freeman was of a very affectionate, sunny nature and these traits had won her a very large number of friends. She is survived by a husband, two children, her father of Anoka and two brothers, Eddie and Fred of Austin. Funeral services were held at Olney Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gunderson, of this city, received last Tuesday the sad news that their son-in-law, Lars Larson, had died at his home in El Paso, Texas. Mr. Larson was born in Rushford and grew to manhood here, being married to Miss Hjalma Gunderson about eleven years ago. He is survived by his wife and two children in El Paso, a sister, Mrs. John Alm and a brother, Andrew Larson of this city.

Mrs. H. H. A. Loeken has been the guest of her Peterson friends.

As a further precaution against fire, there has been placed upon the ceiling of the boiler room in the basement of the school building here, asbestos protective sheeting. Those who have visited school recently have noted with great interest the sand tables in Miss Arnold's and Miss Becker's rooms, the first and second grades. Upon these tables are shown models of a Puritan village, a Holland town, an Esquimo village, Robinson Crusoe's hut and some maps.

We regret to say that we believe that not more than nine out of a dozen of our townspeople know just what progress their child, or children, is or are making in school, but relying upon the monthly report cards, let it go as satisfactory enough information but remain in ignorance, often of the amazing results accomplished by means of the untiring energy and unflagging enthusiasm of the teachers.

Rushford girls won no laurels in the recent declamation contest held at Houston but they still have the fun of preparing and the drilling necessary for the work cannot but help them in future work. Those winning were from Winona and Houston, Winona capturing honors in the dramatic and oratorical part and Houston in the humorous. Several teachers and towns folks went with the Misses Akre and Halverson from here, a raging blizzard but helping to make the trip interesting. The winners in the Houston contest will later meet the winners in the Chatfield-Hayfield-Lanesboro-Spring Valley and Harmony-Preston-Caledonia-Spring Grove contests.

Owing to the critical condition of Mrs. Ensrud, a La Crosse physician was called for consultation. Last reports say it is believed an operation will be found necessary.

FOUR ARE SAVED FROM ICY GRAVE

Frank Schrader, Fisherman, Pulls Two Men Out of the Black River

ICE CUTTERS NEARLY DROWN

Fellow Workmen Rescue John Harnisch and Jack Miller from Drowning

Within the past week four persons who have fallen through holes in the ice of Black river have been saved from death by fishermen and ice cutters.

Last night about 7 o'clock Frank Schrader, fisherman, heard the cry of someone in distress near his cabin on the Black river. He hurried out to ascertain where the cry came from, and was directed to a small hole in the ice which had been cut previously in the day by fishermen, and which had nearly frozen over.

As he reached the hole he saw the head of a man disappear. He reached down and grabbed his hair, pulling him onto the ice. The man was taken into Schrader's cabin, where he warmed himself and left in a serious condition. All the identification that Schrader could get from him was that he lived near the city.

Saturday, February 15, Mr. Schrader rescued F. Rodgers of West La Crosse, who had been walking on the ice near his house and broke through the ice. Rodgers was not injured.

Last Saturday Charles Fredrick and John Herman, who had been cutting ice for Otto Granke, were rescued from an ice hole by their fellow workmen, John Harnisch and Jack Miller. Mr. Herman is in a serious condition from the accident, but it is thought that he will recover soon. While walking to his home his clothing was frozen solid.

John Hayes will take his team to Winona in the endeavor to bring back more laurels for the north side in their match with the Winona rollers.

BIRD ENTHUSIASTS BOOST BUSINESS

If the endeavors that north side poultry enthusiasts are putting forth will count for anything, La Crosse will soon be counted among the most progressive or small cities, in the raising of poultry.

A meeting of the north side Poultry Men's association was held Saturday evening on the north side. Many plans for a betterment of the science of poultry raising were talked over.

The best fowl that could be obtained was "scored" by William Ness. Several addresses were made on the different species of fowl, by William Ness, Theodore Ritter, George McDonald and John Ritter. Mr. John Ritter is just starting in the business on a small scale. He has procured an incubator.

SMALL FIRE IN ATTIC

Fire department No. 4 was called out this morning at 10 o'clock to extinguish a small fire which was discovered in the attic of the residence of A. S. Ellison, 1402 Charles St. The house is owned by Mrs. Van Auker. It is not determined what caused the fire but it is thought that it was started by an overheated stovepipe which ran through the attic.

HENRY BUILDING HYDRO-AEROPLANE

Machine Now Under Construction Is First to Be Seen on the Mississippi

MACHINE SIMILAR TO CURTIS TYPE

It Is Expected that Plane Will Be Ready for a Trial Flight Before Warm Weather

Having attained success with his first aerial invention, which is probably the first ice boat driven by a propeller, on the Mississippi river, Robert Henry is now turning his attention toward the "real article" and is constructing a hydro-aeroplane. Mr. Henry says his invention will be ready for a trial flight in seven weeks. If his predictions prove as correct in this instance as they did when he attained the speed of fifty miles an hour with his ice boat, he will be flying before warm weather comes.

Mr. Henry has had a strong desire to fly for a long time, having exhausted his energies in the motor boat game. He has lately devoted his efforts toward the drawing of plans for various types of machines, and to the construction of wooden propellers. One morning about six weeks ago, he conceived the idea of driving an ice boat with one of the propellers he had made.

Before the afternoon was over, he had assembled a crude contrivance of heavy oak lumber, which closely resembled a small "saw mill" geared with common pulley wheels, in the center of which he placed an engine which had formerly been used in a motor boat. He placed the propeller in front and a pair of runners on the bottom. With the first turn of the engine the machine slowly started to glide along the ice, gaining speed as it went. Several residents of the north side timed his movements and say he attained a speed of more than 50 miles an hour.

The machine which Mr. Henry and his partner Adolph Knutson are building is along the lines similar to the latest types of Curtis hydro-aeroplanes. The two men are putting in all their spare time working in a shop in the rear of Mr. Knutson's residence on Rose street. They are building the machine with no outside aid, with the exception of the engine, which is to be an especially made sixty-five horse power "Emerson," a very light but powerful machine. The engine is to be trussed between the sides of the boat, giving greater stability.

The hull, which is similar to a boat, is being constructed out of one-eighth inch mahogany and is to be twenty-two feet long. The planes when finished are to be fifteen feet long by five feet wide, making an aggregate stretch of thirty-two feet, giving the aeroplane an air surface of eighty square feet.

Mr. Henry has made a careful study of the art of flying in all its taken into Schrader's cabin, where his machine is finished it will "fly." He has not relied wholly upon ideas purely his own, but has borrowed plans from successful makes, such as the Curtis and others.

With the lighter engine he says he can attain a speed of over sixty miles an hour in the water, which with properly constructed planes, will enable him to rise into the air. He says he can carry one passenger besides himself. The weight of the machine of A. S. Ellison, 1402 Charles St. The sand pounds.

TUG REPORTED TO BE LOST RETURNS

MILWAUKEE, March 3.—Sheathed in ice, the fishing tug Tessier, Jones Island, reported as lost Saturday night, put into port at 7 o'clock yesterday morning in the face of a raging gale, thirteen hours overdue. Two of the crew, James Troy and Clement Hermann, were so badly frozen that it was necessary to remove them to their homes and summon medical aid. The vessel blew out a staybolt in the boiler and drifted at the mercy of a heavy sea until the leak was repaired.

"COKE" PEDDLERS REVEAL EMPLOYERS

MILWAUKEE, March 3.—But two arrests were made in the "coke" crusade on Saturday. Joe Bartz and Norman Herbst, peddlers, confessed to the district attorney Saturday night that they had been employed by druggists to distribute "snow" among the unfortunate addicts to the habit. At least three downtown druggists were implicated by the young men's confessions and if Joe Moran, said to be the biggest peddler in Milwaukee, can be found to corroborate the story of the other two, these men will be arrested today.

AUTO BANDITS ROB AND FIGHT

New York Has Melodramatic Visitation of Gasoline Guerillas of the Chicago Type

NEW YORK, March 3.—Three auto bandits entered a Broadway jewelry store between 48th and 49th streets, shortly after midnight last night, began firing their revolvers at the clerks preparing to close up for the night, and took loot valued at $9,000.

After theater diners, who gathered rapidly, watched four detectives who were on the opposite side of the street at the time the band entered the store, engage in a revolver duel with the robbers as they made their escape. The detectives captured the taxicab in which the bandits made their initial getaway and in it was $7,000 worth of the loot.

As the detectives were pursuing the bandits in another taxicab, firing at the robbers all the while, the latter escaped to a second auto waiting on a side street. This car was followed to Columbus Circle, where it gave the detectives the slip in the maze of traffic. As far as it is known no one was injured by the shooting. The chauffeur of the first bandit car, George Ferguson, was captured.

GIRLS' EMPLOYERS TO BE QUESTIONED

CHICAGO, March 3.—Proprietors and superintendents of concerns which employ girls at low wages will be brought before the Illinois senate "white slave" commission and questioned by Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara and his senator aides as to why larger wages are not paid.

This was the principal result of the inquiry into traffic in girls begun in Chicago. Subpoenas were ordered issued for the managers of the big stores by the commission after Senators Juhl, Deal and Tossy and several members of the house, at the invitation of Mr. O'Hara as chairman, had elicited from a number of witnesses statements that the small pay in department stores was the underlying cause of most of the moral delinquency of Chicago girls.

ONE DOSE MAKES INDIGESTION GO

All stomach distress quickly ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

1913 TO BE ACTIVE YEAR FOR BUILDERS

Many Contracts for Spring Work Filed in Office of La Crosse Builders'
Exchange

Indications of early activity in building this year are being felt in the office of the Builders' Exchange, according to a statement by E. A. Erickson, secretary of the exchange, today. During the last week or two plans and specifications have been forwarded to the La Crosse exchange from several towns and cities in Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. These include two postoffice buildings, one of which it is estimated will cost $125,000 in Wisconsin, one large church building in Minnesota and one in Wisconsin. Thill, Manning & Whalen of La Crosse were the successful bidders on a court house plumbing job in Medford, Wis., and all of the other contracts now on file will be awarded within the next two weeks.

Although no record was kept of the building work of last spring it is the belief of the secretary of the builders' exchange that this year will see a great increase in construction activities.

The local exchange is increasing rapidly in membership and includes contractors and builders in three states.

CANDIDATES RUSH TO FILE PAPERS

Last Day for Getting the Names on Primary Ballot
Sees the City Clerk
Swamped with Work

The final rush of candidates for city offices to file their nomination papers in order to get on the primary election ballots was on today. The opportunity for filing ends at five o'clock this evening when the city clerk's office closes. As a result City Clerk E. H. Hoffman and his deputy, Theodore Ritter, were swamped with work today. At three o'clock, Deputy Clerk Ritter, who was too busy to make an actual count, estimated that at least fifty candidates had brought in their papers, and he said that fully as many more would file before five o'clock.

Up to 3 o'clock there were no candidates for mayor outside of John Dengler, D. G. McMillan, W. F. Adams, Ori Sorenson and R. C. McCaleb. Several new candidates for minor offices were uncovered during the day, however, among them being Judge Leonard Kleber, who announced himself as a candidate for supervisor from the Fourth ward.

Registration will take place March 10 and 11, and the primaries will be held March 18. There will be another registration day March 25, preceding the election, which comes on the first of April.

KONEY STICKS OUT FOR $500 MORE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 3.—Before leaving with Pitcher Jake Geyer for Columbus, Ga., Thursday night, Ed Koney made the statement that there was a difference of $500 between himself and Manager Huggins on the 1913 contract. He declared that he was asking for $6,500 and that Hugg had offered $6,000.

While Koney admitted that he was tickled to get away for the south he did not admit that he was going to Georgia to make a compromise with the Cardinal's manager.

"My friends have asked me what I intended to do if Huggins refuses to come across with the $500 difference," said Koney. "That is not a puzzle to me. You can say that I want $6,500 because I believe I deserve it. If I didn't think it was coming to me I wouldn't ask for it."

"I chopped off $1,000 from my original price, and think that is going the limit. Hugg said while he was here that I was not a $7,500 hold-out. He's right. I came down to $6,500, and he offered $6,000. There is the hitch. I'll practice and work out with all the boys, but I won't come down in my price."

STUDENTS TO BATTLE WITH COMPANY "M"

Great interest has been aroused among the basketball fans of the city over the contest between the high school and the company M teams which has been scheduled for tomorrow night at the high school gymnasium. The contest will probably determine the championship of the city, both teams having made remarkable records thus far in the season. Neither team has been defeated and a red-hot battle is expected tomorrow night as a consequence. The company M boys hold a trifle advantage over the scholars in experience and weight, but the high school team has been coached and drilled to a fine edge and will pit their strength against the guardsmen in the pink of condition. The line-ups have not yet been announced. The game will be called at 8:30.

EXPERTS MAY TEST CEMENT FOR CITY

Mayor John Dengler this morning called a meeting of the special war committee of the council for 3 o'clock this afternoon following the receipt of a letter from Alvord and Burdick, engineers in charge of the new water plant, asking for an understanding on the method of cement testing to be used. The city has been testing the cement with apparatus owned by the board of public works, but the engineers claim the tests are insufficient to demonstrate the quality of the cement. The result of this afternoon's meeting may be that the cement will be tested by experts instead of by the city.

TAFT WOULD REWARD POLITICAL WORKER

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Taft's efforts to promote Major Beecher B. Ray, central figure in the so-called "Ray scandal," which developed from his political work, tied up the executive session of the senate today and the matter was finally put over until 10 tonight. Taft nominated Ray as deputy paymaster general, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. The Ray case resulted from the fact that Ray was given leave of absence in 1908 to do political work for Taft. The democrats declare the promotion is proposed as a recompense for that work.

OLSON SPENDS $40,000 IN NEW YORK CITY

The shipment of goods, which is of the latest style, will arrive in time for the Easter opening.

MISS DICKEE WINS ORATORICAL HONORS

Will Represent La Crosse Normal in Contest at Stevens Point on March 28

At the preliminary contest which was held at the normal school this morning, Miss Ethel Dickee was chosen to be the local representative at the state oratorical contest which will be held at Stevens Point, March 28. Miss Dickee's winning oration was entitled "The Cry of the Slums" in which she gave an intensely interesting discussion of the slum problem of the cities of this country. The judges marked on thought and delivery and in both of these respects Miss Dickee was awarded first place.

Miss Marie Schaeffle spoke on "A Plea for American Women," in which she ridiculed the idea of giving women the right of suffrage, saying that it was impossible for one sex to assume the duties of both, that voting was man's work, and that there was plenty of work to be done if women really did have more time than they needed for their home work.

George Barrett delivered an oration on "A New World Power," in which he sketched the development of China during the last few years and predicted a steady growth in its progressive reforms.

In a stirring oration dealing with special privilege and the unequal distribution of wealth, Edward Buehler strongly arraigned the evils of aristocracy and predatory wealth. A jury of seven awarded first place to Miss Dickee, second to George Barrett, third to Marie Schaeffle and fourth to Edward Buehler.

During the interval the judges were in session Miss Vandewater and Professor Harry Packman gave a most enjoyable rendering of the duet "Overture to Ruy Blas," Mendelssohn. Miss Harriet Oltman sang a solo and responded graciously to two encores.

WILSON IS OFF FOR WASHINGTON

biles were in waiting when a delegation of fifteen from the student body of the University marched down on the house. As they gathered about the porch the president-elect emerged from the doorway to greet them and the strains of "Old Nassau" went swinging heavenward, with a volume that was more than impressive.

Joins in Song
As the youthful voices rose in the grand old chorus:

"In praise of Old Nassau, my boys,
In praise of Old Nassau,
Her sons shall give,
While they shall live,
In praise of Old Nassau."
The voice of the former head of the ancient institution rose with it, somewhat tremblingly, it is true, but strong and full.

Has Mole Removed
Wilson laughed when asked what were the prospects of getting the list of the cabinet officers. "I have changed my mind," he said. "I will make no announcement until the list is read in the senate tomorrow."

The president-elect had the large mole that heretofore occupied the center of his forehead, removed, distinctly improving his appearance.

Mrs. Wilson posed on the platform for the photographers. Several hundred students gave the various university cheers winding up with a "Tiger" growl that brought from a president-elect the compliment:

"Great cheering. I wish that I could give as good a cheer in response."

Jokes With Reporters
ON BOARD WILSON'S SPECIAL, DELMAR, March 3.—When President-elect Wilson received the newspaper correspondents on his car this afternoon enroute to Philadelphia, he was addressed by one of them as "Mister Wilson."

"That's right," he said, smilingly. "I'm entitled to that until noon tomorrow."

"And we want to congratulate you on your silk hat," another said, with a grin. The president-elect's antipathy to the modern "tile" is common knowledge.

"Thank you," he said. "Do you think it is becoming?"
When all agreed that it was, he continued: "I'm glad you boys like it. Incidentally, it's not so much of a feat to wear it on foot as on horseback, which I have done."

Asked if the new cabinet would

Notes came on every train, but the city awaited with breathless anticipation the arrival of the man in whose honor all the decorations, all the cheers and all the ceremony was arranged—the president-elect. He was scheduled to arrive at 3:45 this afternoon. Extraordinary police preparations were made to guard him. The union station's huge rooms were jammed with a mass of humanity—visitors arriving and visitors and residents who gathered to catch the triumphal entry into Washington of the new first citizen of the nation.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—First hand information regarding the revolt at Mexico City has been received by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Austin, from their daughter, Mrs. Mabel Brooks, whose home is in the southern capital. Mrs. Austin wrote the letter sitting in her room deafened by the roar of the machine guns and with rifle bullets clattering against the walls of her home. At one place in the missive she says:

"I just picked a bullet off my bed room floor. It came through the house wall, plowed through a three-quarter inch door and fell at my feet."

"all" be at the inauguration reception, he laughed and said he did not know.

President Wilson may not send in his cabinet nominations until Wednesday.

"The cabinet is provisionally complete," he said, "although you never can tell whether a change will be made at the last minute."

Mr. Wilson said he and Mrs. Wilson would call on President and Mrs. Taft tonight.

Sees His Stenographer
A surprise greeted President-elect Wilson at Trenton, where Miss Ida Phillips, who had been his confidential stenographer at the state house for two years, waved to him as his train passed through. It was not scheduled to stop, was caught by the block and halted a moment in the station. The president-elect waved and smiled to Miss Phillips, who stood on the platform with tears in her eyes.

To Name Garrison and Lane
Charles Grant Garrison, a member of the supreme court of New Jersey is to be secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet and Franklin K. Lane of the interstate commerce commission to be secretary of the interior, according to information obtained on the Wilson special train going from Princeton to Washington today.

It is said these appointments are definitely settled, the explicit statement is made by people apparently in the president-elect's confidence, who presumably obtained the information from Wilson himself.

Washington Awaits Him
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Washington was en fete today. Clear, cold weather gave promise of a splendid inauguration day tomorrow. Every bit of decoration in place, Pennsylvania avenue was a blaze of riotous red, white and blue with here and there the gaudy violet, white and green of the suffrage advocates clamoring for recognition.

Notables came on every train, but the city awaited with breathless anticipation the arrival of the man in whose honor all the decorations, all the cheers and all the ceremony was arranged—the president-elect. He was scheduled to arrive at 3:45 this afternoon. Extraordinary police preparations were made to guard him. WASHINGTON, March 3.—How the presence of a telephone book, probably the most useless thing in the world on board a fishing tug, saved the lives of six men, captain and crew of the fishing tug Tessler, was told today by Captain Charles Tessler, who was just recovering from the effects of his thirteen hour fight against Lake Michigan.

The tug put out Saturday morning. About noon, the blowing out of a stay-bolt in the boiler "killed" the Tessler's fire. A heavy gale was blowing and the temperature was several degrees below zero. Wallowing in the trough of the waves the little vessel was soon encased in ice from stem to stern. Members of the crew searched the pockets for matches, after the boiler had been repaired and but three dry ones could be found. Two spluttered and went out but with the third Captain Tessler succeeded in lighting a candle. But even then he was unable to light the pile of water-soaked wood that had been heaped on the engine room floor. A search of the lockers revealed an old telephone book and with this a fire was kindled.

CONGRESS MUST WORK ALL NIGHT

Appropriation Bills Forced
Sunday Session and Demand
Much Effort
Today

WASHINGTON, March 3.—To jam through nine mammoth appropriation bills, carrying $500,000,000 during the next twenty-four hours was the task facing congress when both houses met at 9:30 today. Continuous session all day and all night, probably right up to noon tomorrow, was the tentative program.

The appropriation measures awaiting action when the national legislature convened today were:

The legislative, executive and judiciary, naval, postoffice, agriculture, Indian, District of Columbia, public buildings, general deficiency and sundry civil.

Passage of all except the public buildings "pork barrel" bill, is deemed certain.

During a Sunday afternoon and evening session—an almost unprecedented action—congress passed the rivers and harbors measure—carrying appropriations of $47,848,000.

WASHINGTON IN HANDS OF WOMEN

old pioneer in the equal rights movement.

It was the overwhelming culmination of a fifty-five-year battle for equality in the United States. It was both a protest against disfranchisement and a vivid, dignified, elaborate demand for equal rights at the polls.

To Give Tableau
There were three distinct features to the demonstration—the parade, a series of tableaux on the treasury department steps, and tonight, a series of mass meetings.

Flower of American womanhood joined in the celebration. Society leaders in hundreds from all cities trudged sturdily beside humble housewives. Actresses, opera singers and professional women whose names are known in every country joined with enthusiasm. Senators, congressmen and leaders of civic and political life of the nation marched with the women.

Pennsylvania avenue, from the capitol to the White House was seething with densely packed humanity. Grandstands erected for the inauguration ceremonies tomorrow were jammed with spectators.

City in Gala Attire
Flags, pennants, buttons, handbills, posters and banners of myriad colors, combined with the costumes of the marchers, gave "The Avenue" a kaleidoscopic appearance. Tons of suffrage literature were distributed. Streets and sidewalks were trampled with printed appeal for the ballot. Lusty-lunged women gave impromptu suffrage speeches at street corners.

The city was in gala attire not only for the women, but for the inaugural parade. Buildings were ablaze with color. Intertwined with the guidons and pennants for Wilson and Marshall were those emblazoned "Votes for Women." National and international colors of the suffragists were lavishly used.

Women "hikers" came from New York, Baltimore, Richmond and other nearby cities. The largest was Gen. Rosalia Jones and her footsore feminine "army" which completed its trip from New York, begun Feb. 12.

By noon the vanguard of the women paraders formed near the Peace Monument, at the base of the capitol—the eastern extremity of Pennsylvania avenue.

Women and girls in dazzling, white flowing robes, on horse and afoot, marshaled the forces of equal rights. Mounted on an immense white charger, in a long, loose yellow tunic, carrying a gilded trumpet, was Miss Inez Milholland, the celebrated New York suffragette leader. She was the herald.

Mrs. Burleson is Grand Marshal
On the crack cavalry horse of the army, Mrs. R. C. Burleson, wife of Lieutenant Burleson, of the army, acted as grand marshal. A score of famous horsewomen, including huntswomen of Virginia and Maryland, were assistant mounted marshals.

While the parade was forming tableaux at the south front of the treasury were being enacted. The signal of the start of the parade was relayed block by block up from the Peace Monument by heralds. Their megaphones were gilded in imitation of herald's bugles, and all were dressed in costumes.

As the procession slowly swept up Pennsylvania avenue, Miss Milholland frequently sounded the triumphant militant one of "Progress." A purple and yellow banner was suspended from her trumpet.

Hundreds of the marchers were uniformed, but the greater part donned "citizens' clothes. The uniforms of every color, were long "Portia" capes, full and flowing, with a single button at the breast. "Portia" caps were the uniform headpieces.

Behind Miss Milholland marched ten ushers, carrying yellow and blue pennants, and wearing light blue and gold caps and gowns.

Woman's Band Gets Ovation
A woman's band of fifty pieces followed. They received a tremendous ovation at every step. Behind marched fifty more uniformed women ushers. Then came capitol women marchers—over 500—cald in golden tan caps.

The first mounted brigade, headed by Mrs. Burleson, the grand marshal, were next.

Then came floats denoting the countries in which women have whole or partial suffrage. Before them was carried a banner labeled "Women of the World Unite." The first float represented Norway. Mrs.

Knute Nelson, wife of the Minnesota senator, was the central figure on this float, seated amidst a miniature forest of waving Norwegian pine trees. Other countries represented by floats, all drawn by caparisoned horses, were Finland, New Zealand, and Australia. Each bore in large figures the date upon which women were given suffrage in these countries. On them were seated women and girls in respective national costumes.

While the parade was slowly winding up the Avenue, the climax of the pageant was being enacted on the treasury plaza and steps. As the trumpet (megaphone) notes heralding the beginning of the procession reached the treasury the tableaux began.

MILWAUKEE, March 3.—How the presence of a telephone book, probably the most useless thing in the world on board a fishing tug, saved the lives of six men, captain and crew of the fishing tug Tessler, was told today by Captain Charles Tessler, who was just recovering from the effects of his thirteen hour fight against Lake Michigan.

The tug put out Saturday morning. About noon, the blowing out of a stay-bolt in the boiler "killed" the Tessler's fire. A heavy gale was blowing and the temperature was several degrees below zero. Wallowing in the trough of the waves the little vessel was soon encased in ice from stem to stern. Members of the crew searched the pockets for matches, after the boiler had been repaired and but three dry ones could be found. Two spluttered and went out but with the third Captain Tessler succeeded in lighting a candle. But even then he was unable to light the pile of water-soaked wood that had been heaped on the engine room floor. A search of the lockers revealed an old telephone book and with this a fire was kindled.

$80,000

Is the amount paid for 80 acres by the Fairbanks-Morse people of Beloit, Wis., for a factory site. I am asking the men of La Crosse to join me and buy for $20,000 64 acres. $9,500 has been subscribed. We need $10,500 more to be able to give sites absolutely free to factories which we may wish to locate here, and the Sawyer and Austin mill site is the best situated piece of land for the purpose. We are asking you, Mr. BUSINESS MAN or PROPERTY OWNER, to buy an interest in this land of $100 or more. We guarantee to return your money out of the profits we will make by buying this land at acre prices and selling some of it for building lots. We are paying about $200 per acre, and if we only get $200 per lot, there will be a profit of $700 per acre.

Each subscriber will hold an interest and have his money returned out of this profit. This is a safe plan to keep the factories we now have and to get more.

LET US BUY THIS LAND WHILE IT IS CHEAP, so that in the future we will not have to pay such an enormous price as was paid at Beloit.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, March 3.—Bearishness was general in the grain market today. Prospects were bright for a large domestic wheat crop, due to favorable weather, and Liverpool reports were of large Argentine and Canadian shipments and good prospects in India. A firm opening was followed by speedy declines. Wheat opened unchanged. At noon contracts were down 1/4 c and July 1/4 c.

Corn likewise opened firm and made a stubborn attempt to resist the bears. At noon corn was still firm, but July yielded 1/4 c.

Oats had an easy undertone. A firm opening was followed by a drop of 1/4 c in May offerings and 1/4 c in July.

Provisions were sharply higher early in the day, but weakened toward noon. Trade was sluggish.

There was a further break in the prices in the afternoon. Despite the appearance of buying orders on the morning dip, the downward movement continued its course and the wave of bearishness that developed during the morning swept the bulls before it. May and July wheat dropped 1/4 c more in the afternoon.

May corn declined 1/4 c and July 1/4 c.

Oats, May and July declined 1/4 c. Provisions also suffered, declining markedly.

Barred Hot Water.

"She threatened to throw hot water in my face," said a school attendance officer, referring to a woman who had been summoned in respect of the truancy of her child. "You must not throw hot water," the stipendiary told the defendant. "You can hear coals of fire on his head, if you like."

Worried Here.

A critic of Wells' novel, "Marriage," finds in the confounding of the hero "the desire to have it all ways; to possess a woman who shall have all the charm and the caprice of the eternal feminine; who shall, by the grossness of her desires and the pettiness of conversation, give him an agreeable sense of superiority, and yet shall, to order acquire deep spiritual insight when her husband feels he needs it."

LET US BUY YOU A SPOOL OF THREAD

We want you to make a quality test of Bowstring Six Cord Spool Cotton and compare it with the thread you are now using. We know that if you will once use Bowstring thread, you will say that no other thread equals it in strength, smoothness and freedom from defects. The Sea Island cotton used in Bowstring thread has a fibre longer and finer than any other cotton in the world. Dressmakers say that Bowstring is so free from defects, that with it they can run their machines all day long without a skip or a break. The price is as usual—5c a spool.

This Coupon is Worth 5c

This coupon will buy at our store a 5c spool of Bowstring thread. But the coupon must be presented in order to get the spool as we must send to the manufacturer a coupon for every spool put out in this way. We want you to know by actual experience the high quality of Bowstring thread. This coupon is good for one week only beginning to-day.

DOERFLINGERS

CHAMPION GETS SECOND PLACE

CHICAGO, March 3.—Poor form lost first place for Ragnar Ontvedt, champion jumper of the world, to Sigurd Hansen of Fergus Falls, Minn., at the annual Norge Ski club meet on the Cary hill on Sunday. The champion finished second.

No records were broken, but Ontvedt jumped 165 feet, a higher mark than any man but himself ever has made.

PACKY IN TRAINING

NEW YORK, March 3.—Packy McFarland reached here today on the Twentieth Century and went immediately to Dal Hawkins' roadhouse in Westchester, to put finishing touches on his training for his bout with Jack Britton in the garden next Friday night.

DREW BEGINS WORK

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—Attorney Walter C. Drew of Madison, newly appointed deputy attorney general to succeed Russell Jackson, resigned, started his work today. The salary is $3,500. For several years Mr. Drew was private secretary to Senator La Follette.

AFTER WELLS IF HE LICKS SMITH

NEW YORK, March 3.—Bombardier Wells, the British heavyweight champion, who meets Gunboat Smith a week from Friday night, will be matched for a long distance bout in California, if he is returned the winner here. Just who is to be his opponent he does not know, but it was stated by his manager today that he had two flattering offers, one from Los Angeles and the other from San Francisco. Wells weighed 197 yesterday and is working hard at a Westchester roadhouse.

LAND COMMISSIONERS REPORT

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—(Special.)—In the biennial report of the commissioners of the public lands, submitted to the governor and issued to the members of the legislature today, it is announced that 55,536 acres were sold during the last two years, 11,200 acres of this total being sold on contract under the terms of chapter 452, laws of 1911. The remainder was sold for cash. Large purchases of land for additions to state forest reserves account for the fact that the total acreage of lands held by the state is nearly 20,000 acres more than on June 30, 1910.

SPORTS

"U" GINCHES TITLE IN SCRAPPY GAME

With Score 17 to 18 for Purdue Wisconsin Gets Five Points in Last Few Minutes

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—The Badger quintet downed Purdue, 22 to 19, in the scrappiest and hardest fought basketball game played here this season, Saturday night, and clinched the western championship. Only by a sensational finish in the very last few minutes of play were the Badgers able to win. With the score 17 to 18 in Purdue's favor and only a few minutes to play, Berger threw a sensational basket, giving Wisconsin the lead. A foul on Wisconsin enabled Oliphant to tie the score by a free throw, but Berger came to the rescue with a field goal, which, added to Johnson's free, won the game.

This marked the twenty-ninth straight victory for Wisconsin, the Cardinal team having won every game played since the opening of the 1911 schedule. This game was the eleventh of the twelve scheduled for Wisconsin, and the last one on the home floor, the season closing with a game against Chicago in that city on March 7.

The Lineup

Wisconsin—Johnson, lf; Berger, rf; Van Gent, c; Van Riper, (capt.), lg; Harper, rg.

Purdue—Johnson, (capt.), lf; Oliphant, rf; Teppie, c; Berry, lg; Parter, rg.

Field goals—Wisconsin: Johnson, 3; Berger, 3; Van Gent, 3; Harper, 1; Purdue: Oliphant, Johnson, Teppie, 5; Porter.

Free throws—Wisconsin: Johnson, 2 out of three; Purdue: Oliphant, 3 out of 7.

Referee—Schommer, Chicago.

PAMPHLETIZE SOLONS

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—(Special.)—Why the normal school at Eau Claire, provision for which was made by the 1909 legislature, should be constructed now, is explained in a pamphlet addressed to members of each house of the legislature by a citizens' committee on normal school.

FIGHTS KILBANE FOR PUGILISTIC CORONET

Johnny Dundee.

Johnny Dundee, New York's featherweight darling fighter, is getting ready for his championship battle to be waged with Johnny Kilbane at Vernon, Cal., on the evening of April 15. Dundee has met Kilbane several times in New York and has been accorded by fluster critics there the best of the comment. Yet, the indications are that Gotham has been biased in favor of the Italian fighter with the Scotch name, and that he will have his hands full to come out even in twenty rounds of milling in McCarty's arena.

BINGLES FROM THE TRAINING CAMP

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 3.—Majestic park was in fine shape when the Red Sox batters trotted out for their initial limbering up today. Manager Stahl hopes to have a line on his new material by the end of the week, when the main squaw arrives.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 3.—White Sox discovered quite a few kinks in hurling arms and near-Charley horse or two, when they arose this morning and started for the training grounds. The free-for-all that had furnished pleasure when the Sox trimmed the village outfit yesterday also furnished exercise.

Everybody is rooting for a continuation of the present weather. Old Sol features the practice.

TAMPA, Fla., March 3.—The Cubs have nothing but doubleheader practice on today. Evers led the squad out to practice this morning, and they will repeat after noon. Tomorrow they will split into Subs and Yannisians and battle for the benefit of local fandom. There will be no more games with the Cubans. The Islanders went home last night after a row that threatened international complications. Some one said that Jimmy Lavender plugged Senior Garcia with a fast in-shoot just for fun.

MARLIN SPRINGS, Texas, March 3.—All of the Giants, new and old, were back on the job here today and McGraw had the biggest bunch of the year out at the park for general work. Although the cub team won both its games on the outing, McGraw was by no means too well pleased with the showing made and realizes that his players are all weak at the bat when the real thing is being served up. He is, however, enthusiastic over the great showing of young Cooper, the Texas outfield find and of Al Demaree, and both of the youths are now regarded as certain to be kept all through the season.

HALF OF COLLEGE ATHLETES "PROS"?

University of Illinois Coach Declares 50 Per Cent of College Players Sell Ability

CHICAGO, Ill., March 3.—Coach George Huff of the University of Illinois has told members of the "Little Five" conference here that an investigation of baseball playing by the alumni of colleges in the "Big Nine" has proven that 50 per cent of the men had commercialized their athletic ability while in school.

"It was not a 'gumshoe' investigation," he said, "the word of the alumnus being taken in every case. More than 50 per cent of the players had received money for their services."

"Further than that, I am absolutely certain that an equal number of college players are professionals under the present system. The whole fault of the present system is that amateurism has been put on a money basis."

Huff made it clear that he favored summer baseball.

CARDINALS DOWN HIGH SCHOOL FIVE

The high school basket ball team lost to the Wisconsin Cardinals last Saturday night by the score of 32 to 24. The game was close and interesting all the way through. The team work of the visitors figured largely in their scoring. The highs had hard luck in their shots, the ball hitting the rim of the basket and rolling around then falling off several times. The passing of the highs was good. The crowd was small.

The high team will meet the five representing Company M on Wednesday night to determine which of these teams are the city champions. Both quintets have defeated the normal five. The high teams have held the championship of the city for several years and hope to continue their prestige.

The lineup: Cardinals—Hoppert, rf; Bradish, lf; O'Connell, c; Curtin, rg; Drew, lg.

La Crosse—Zeisler, Gardner, rf; Meinert, lf; Weiss (Capt.), c; Wiebrecht, Krause, rg; Dornbach, lg. Summaries: Field goals, Weiss 6, Meinert, Zeisler 2, Dornbach 1, Hoppert 5, Bradish 3, O'Connell 2, rDew 6; free throws: Dornbach 2; referee, Skinner of Madison.

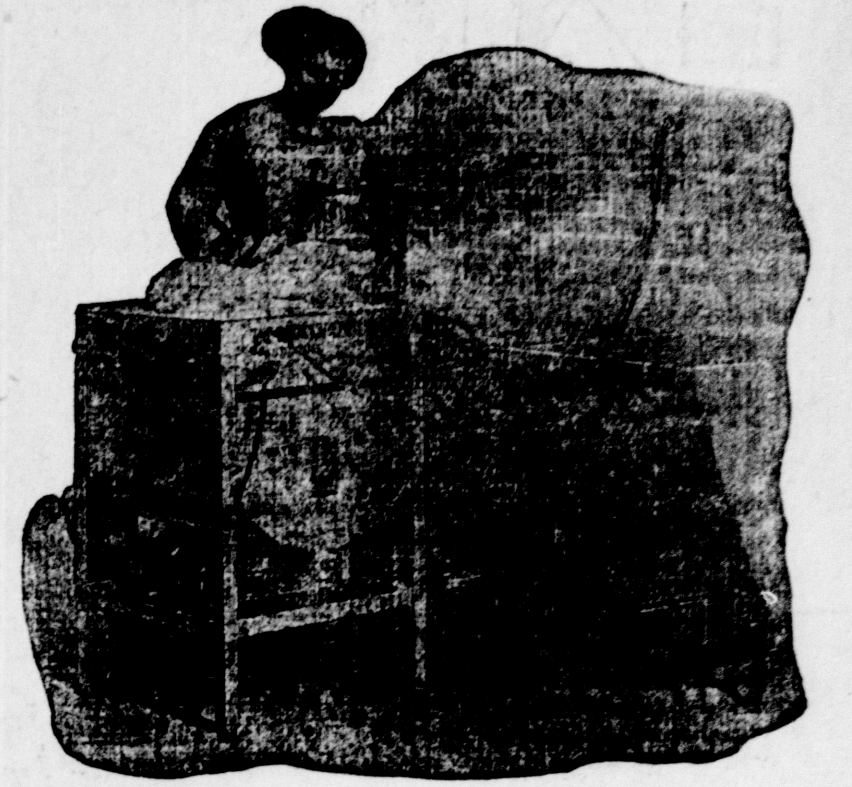

The Cardinals played Friday night at Red Wing and were defeated by Company L team by the score of 32 to 28.

In the game played as a preliminary between the second high team and one of the league teams from the Y. M. C. A., the highs were victorious by the score of 21 to 12.
